FSD

29.09.2023

FSD (Fondation suisse de déminage) is a Geneva-based humanitarian organisation that has been working for 25 years to protect civilians from landmines and other explosive remnants of war.

Our teams locate and destroy explosive devices, conduct awareness-raising campaigns among affected populations and set up assistance projects for victims of accidental explosions.

FSD currently employs more than 600 staff on four continents and has worked in more than 30 countries since its founding in 1997.
